STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The Whole-Self Discovery & Development Institute, Inc. International offers universal and comprehensive systems and methods to create, promote and disseminate principles, systems, technologies and products designed as practical tools for connecting to Whole-Self Health, Holness and Wellness. It offers a comprehensive education and integrated methodology and psychotherapy training based on the concept of the Whole-Self. The Whole-Self is the totality of each person which knows everything the person has ever experienced and is able to bring significant information to the conscious mind in order to release from diminishing, dyslogical and pathology creating beliefs and realities. In Whole-Self, reality is not consensus but the psychological recognition that whatever each person believes has or is happening is reality for that person.

Whole-Self Work and Certification Training includes but is not limited to copyrighted systems including Whole-Self Psychology, Whole-Self Philosophy and Whole-Self Education. Aspects of Whole-Self Work and Certification Training includes Whole-Self Trauma Pattern Resolution, W-S Prebirth Analysis / Awakening Matrix© (W-S PAM©) W-S Past Life Echoes© (W-S PLE©) regression therapy, Whole-Self Death & Bereavement Resolution©, Whole-Self Crisis Intervention©, Whole-Self Discovery Steps© and Whole-Self Closure & Integration of the Whole-Self© and any other systems and products which have been or may in the future be developed dealing with allopathic as well as holistic approaches to balancing the mind, body, emotions and sprit of the whole person - The Whole-Self.

Whole-Self Prebirth Psychology Therapy, W-S Counseling and W-S Education and W-S Certificate Training offers a transpersonal, integrative, non-emotive system to assist in discovering and developing the self through qualified instruction in all aspects of Whole-Self as well as grounding in relative systems of W-S Psychology, W-S Philosophy and W-S Education. Whole-Self Systems function by identifying each person's realities and trauma induced trances and bringing those realities or personal beliefs to an awareness of the true perception of the facts. Whole-Self Prebirth Psychology has three distinguishing characteristics which differentiate it from many other forms of therapeutic practice: 1) It is very gentle; 2) very reaffirming; 3) very efficient in helping each person to recall past events in order to experience, integrate, grow, develop, mature and evolve as a whole person.

Whole-Self Psychology also differs in that it does not work with the personality but conducts each session through the Whole-Self. One of the basic functions of the personality is to keep each person from remembering anything which could be painful to remember. Through the Whole-Self, the conscious mind is able to recognize the causative event which created the hypnotic trauma trance state. This trauma trance state is whatever the personality believes has happened at the time the trance state is induced. Through the Whole-Self, the person is able to realize that the personality has been living in the non-conscious belief that the event is still happening. By re-creating and re-evaluating the information supplied by the Whole-Self, appropriate correcting and balancing can take place. After discovering the causative event each subsequent repetition of the trauma trance inducing pattern is briefly glanced at to recall the original feeling and reaction and the non-conscious self-judgments and diminishing decisions which were made. Each session is concluded with the Whole-Self Completion and Integration of the Whole-Self. In this way, the person is de-hypnotized and released from not only the causative event but also from all the repeated reality patterns.
